To whom it may concern:

Azat Valiev interned with M2 Labs during the summer of 2018. During his full time internship Azat performed all of the duties asked of him and beyond. He's shown great ability to learn and adapt to new technologies and procedures. He's learned Git in great depth, parsing git data to extract information and metadata about a repository. In the three months he was with us he quickly picked up Python 3 and became proficient. He even did HTML and CSS for our websites. Azat has proven to be an invaluable asset that can take on anything that is asked of him. If I had 1/10th of his ambition and ability at his age I would have taken over the world by now. We're excited to see where his future will take him, and we can guarantee that anyone who chooses to employ Azat will see a committed and determined individual that will exceed your expectations.
